About the Topic

Education is the elixir of life. It eradicates the agonies giving way to up-liftment, advancement and ultimately contentment because education is said to be a liberating force also, liberating the receiver and the provider both from ignorance, fear, poverty, crisis of identification etc. This sounds much more significant when we think in respect of higher education.

Higher education in India is passing through a phase of unprecedented expansion, marked by an explosion in the volume of students, a substantial expansion in the number of institutions and a quantum jump in the level of public funding. The enormity of the challenge of providing equal opportunities for quality higher education to ever-growing number of students is a big challenge for removing social imbalances, reinvigorating institutions, crossing international benchmarks of excellence and extending the frontiers of knowledge.

This seminar is an attempt to discuss all these issues in a positive direction, weighing pros and cons of government policies, redefining role and responsibilities of all the stake holders, searching for newer dimensions like optimum utilization of Open University system and ultimately looking for the ways or best practices to make the most of what we have.
